

I'm not robot

Continue

Lone survivor netflix series

Mark Wahlberg stars as Navy SEAL Marcus Luttrell in this action-drama based on an ill-fated real-life mission to bring down a Taliban boss. Navy SEALs on a critical mission. Everything that can go wrong does -- except help from an unlikely ally. Unable to watch without unlocking Mark Wahlberg, Taylor Kitsch, Emile Hirsch, Ben Foster, Yousuf Azami, Ali Suliman, Eric Bana, Alexander Ludwig, Sammy Sheik, Dan Bilzerian American political thriller TV series Designated SurvivorThe title cardGenre Political thriller Political drama Conspiracy thriller made byDavid GuggenheimStarring Kiefer Sutherland Natascha McElhone Adan Canto Italia Ricci LaMonica Tanner Buchanan Kal Penn Maggie Q Jake Epstein Paulo Costanzo Zoe McLellan Ben Lawson Theme music composer Sean Callery[1] Paul Leonard-Morgan. 2) Composers Call Sean Roberbery Roberbery Lydecker Paul Leonard-Morgan Country of OriginUnited StatesVerwoens languageEnglishNo. seasons3Ne. of episodes53 (list of episodes)ProductionExecutive producers Mark Gordon[3] Nicholas Pepper Jeff Melvoin Jon Harmon Feldman Kiefer Sutherland Sue Bymel Paul McGuigan Amy Harris Aditya Sood David Guggenheim Simon Kinberg Neal Baer ProducersRich KleinAnn KindbergTommy BurnsProduction locationsToronto, OntarioWashington, D.C.Cinematography M. David Mullen David A. Harp EditorMichael SchweitzerCamera setupSingle-cameraRunning time42 minutes (seasons 1-2) 46-53 minutes (season 3)Production companies Kin Genreberg The Mark Gordon Company Baer Bones ABC Studios (seasons 1-2) DistributorDisney-ABC Domestic Television (seasons 1–2) Netflix (season 1–2) 3)Entertainment One (season 3; seasons 1–2 non-US)ReleaseOriginal networkABC (seasons 1–2)Netflix (season 3 worldwide; seasons 1-2 outside North America)Image format HDTV 1080p 4K (16:9 UHDTV in high dynamic range) Audio format 5.1 surround soundOriginal releaseSeptember 21, 2016 (2016-09-21) –June 7, 2019 (2019-06-07)External left-wing Website Designated Survivor is an American political thriller drama series created by David Guggenheim that aired on ABC for two seasons. Season three will air exclusively and worldwide on Netflix. Kiefer Sutherland stars as Thomas Kirkman, an American academic named as the designated survivor for the State of the Union address, who suddenly rises from the position of U.S. Secretary of Housing and Urban Development to President of the United States after an explosion kills everyone in front of him in the presidential line of succession. Kirkman deals with his inexperience as head of state while watching to discover the truth behind the attack. The project skipped the pilot phase and was sent directly to the series on December 14, 2015, followed by a formal announcement on May 6, 2016. The first episode premiered on September 21, 2016 in front of an audience of more than 10 million viewers. days later, a full seasonal order was announced. The series was renewed for a second season on May 11, 2017, which premiered on September 27, 2017. In May 2018 cancelled the series after two seasons. In September 2018, Netflix and Entertainment One announced that they had reached a deal to pick up Designated Survivor for a third 10-episode season, with the latter solely responsible for producing the series. The third season premiered on Netflix on June 7, 2019. In July 2019, Netflix canceled the series due to complications with the actors' contracts. A South Korean remake, titled Designated Survivor: 60 Days, developed by Studio Dragon and produced by DK E&M, premiered worldwide on TVN in South Korea and Netflix from July 1 to August 20, 2019. [6] [7] J Jin-hee portrays the lead role in the series. [8] Premise On Union State night, an explosion destroys the Capitol Building, killing the President and everyone in the line of succession except Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Thomas Kirkman, who had been named the designated survivor. Kirkman is immediately sworn in, unaware that the attack is just the beginning of what is to come. He faces many challenges in the series and he struggles to balance his political aspirations with the challenge of being seen as a legitimate president. Cast and characters Main Kiefer Sutherland as Tom Kirkman, the President of the United States, sworn in after an unprecedented attack on the Capitol building that killed the entire government. He previously held the post of Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. Kirkman is elected to a second term at the end of the third season. [9] [10] Natascha McElhone as Alex Kirkman (seasons 1-2), the First Lady of the United States. Before he became First Lady, Alex was an immigration lawyer in private practice. In season two, Alex was killed after a truck crashed into the motorcade she was traveling in. [11] Adan Canto as Aaron Coast (né Rivera), the Vice President-elect of the United States. Before being put on President Kirkman's ticket, Aaron worked as Kirkman's first chief of staff until he resigned after being questioned about the terrorist attack on the Capitol in the first season. During that time, he worked as a senior aide to House Speaker Kimble Hookstraten, before returning to the White House as Kirkman's National Security Adviser. [12] [10] Italia Ricci as Emily Rhodes, the spokesman for Kirkman's presidential campaign. She has worked for Tom since his days as HUD secretary, where she was his chief of staff. After Kirkman became president, she was appointed Special Counsel, and, after Aaron's resignation, his chief of staff until he resigned from the White House to live in Florida with her mother. She later returned and was reinstated as Special Advisor. [11] [10] LaMonica Garrett as Mike Ritter (seasons 1-2), a Secret Service agent, assigned President Kirkman's personal protection detail. Ritter was responsible for the safety of the entire Kirkman family after the Capitol attack. [13] Tanner Buchanan as Leo Kirkman (season 1;[a] season 2), Tom and Alex's son and Penny's older brother. Leo is tasked with supporting his sister Penny while his parents are busy in their new job. Leo later leaves the White House for his freshman year at Stanford University. Kal Penn as Seth Wright, the White House communications director. He initially questioned Tom's abilities as president, but soon became one of his closest advisers. He was appointed press secretary because of his strong social skills. He was press secretary until his promotion to Communications Director in Season 3 by Chief of Staff Mars Harper. [11] [10] Maggie Q as Hannah Wells, a CIA Case Officer. Formerly an FBI Special Agent, she has been assigned to investigate the Capitol attack, ultimately solving the case and bringing those responsible to justice. In season three, after being fired from the Bureau, Hannah investigates a possible threat of bioterrorism to the CIA, which ultimately leads to her death. [11] [10] [15] Paulo Costanzo as Lyor Boone (season 2), the White House Political Director. Lyor is a highly educated but socially inept political consultant who is hired to help develop the political strategy of Kirkman's administration. [16] Zoe McLellan as Kendra Daynes (season 2), a White House Counsel. Kendra is a no-nonsense lawyer who previously served as counsel for the Senate Homeland Security sub-committee. [17] Ben Lawson as Damian Rennett (season 2), an MI6 agent. He's been assigned to help Wells find the Capitol attack perpetrator. He is shot and killed multiple times by a Russian intelligence officer in a drive-by shooting. [18] ^ Tanner Buchanan was credited as a series regular throughout season 1, episode 13. From season 1, episode 14 onwards, he is credited as returning. Returning McKenna Grace as Penny Kirkman, Tom and Alex's daughter and Leo's younger sister. [14] Peter Outerbridge as Charles Langdon, former chief of staff of the Richmond administration. Charles is one of the survivors of the Capitol attack who later provided Wells and the FBI with information about the conspiracy. Malik Yoba as Jason Atwood, former deputy director of the FBI. Jason is leading the FBI investigation into the Capitol attack next to Wells and becomes one of Wells' most trusted allies. Jason is eventually shot dead by Nestor Lozano, who catches him spying on Jay Whitaker, who is revealed to be conspiring with the perpetrator of the Capitol bombing. [19] Kevin McNally as Harris Cochrane, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Harris initially refuses to accept Kirkman as the new commander-in-chief and tries to have him removed from office. He is fired by Kirkman after ignoring a direct order. [20] Virginia Madsen as Kimble Hookstraten, the Speaker of the House. Kimble is a missouri, which has been selected as the designated survivor for the party. She supports Kirkman's authority, while secretly harboring her own agenda. Kimble later becomes the Education Minister after an investigation that forced her to resign from United States House of Representatives. Ashley Zukerman as Peter MacLeish, former congressman and vice president of the United States. Peter is initially established as the sole survivor of the Capitol bombing and hailed a national hero. MacLeish eventually becomes Vice President. After investigating him for months, Hannah comes to the conclusion that he was involved in the preparation of the Capitol attack, leading to MacLeish being shot and killed by his wife before taking her own life so the FBI could not gather more information about the conspiracy. [21] George Tchortov as Nestor Lozano, a former CIA agent. Nestor is wanted by the FBI for being heavily involved in the Capitol attack. He operates under the name Catalan. Reed Diamond as John Foerstel, former director of the FBI. John occasionally helps Wells with her investigation into the Capitol attack, while constantly establishing that he is in charge, not her. In season two, John is killed in a subway bombing after walking in to alert his agents and to evacuate them. Mykelti Williamson as Admiral Chernow, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Chernow becomes one of Kirkman's most trusted advisers after succeeding Cochrane as chairman after being fired for disobedience. [22] Michael Gaston as James Royce, the former governor of Michigan. James openly and repeatedly defies Kirkman's government while trying to establish his own supreme authority. After Royce forcibly detains protesters for going against his own beliefs, he is arrested for committing treason against the United States. [23] Mariana Klaveno as Brooke Mathison, a self-claimed contractor. Brooke kidnaps Luke, Atwood's son, and blackmails Jason into falsely confessing to the murder of Majid Nassar in exchange for his safety. She fails to keep her share of the deal and Luke is later found dead on a verbank. She is later killed by Atwood after she pulls out a gun to kill either Hannah Wells or Atwood. Jake Epstein as Chuck Ruskink, an FBI analyst. Chuck regularly helps Wells with her research and becomes one of her most trusted allies. Ruskink tends to be the behind the scenes man or the brain because of his technological genius. Lara Jean Chorostecki as Beth MacLeish, wife of Peter MacLeish. Beth, along with her husband, is part of the Capitol attack conspiracy. They goes Peter into following through with their preconceived agenda. When her husband feels upset, she is always the one who tells him that things are going to be okay and that nothing bad will happen to them. She eventually shoots and kills Peter before committing suicide after learning that their plan and involvement had been discovered by Wells. Rob Morrow as Abe Leonard, a Abe is an old friend of Kimble Hookstraten who harbors some hatred towards Seth. He's determined to find something to incriminate the Kirkman family. Geoff Pierson as Cornelius Moss, former 44th President of van United States. He decided not to seek re-election due to the death of his wife and is coming out of retirement to give President Kirkman a list of candidates for empty cabinet positions. President Kirkman brings Moss back into the spotlight, appointing him to be his secretary of state. Moss is later removed from this position after working covertly in contrast to Kirkman. He develops a hatred for Kirkman and becomes the Republican candidate for President in the third season. [25] Mark Deklin as Jack Bowman, a Republican senator from Montana. Senator Bowman is one of President Kirkman's most rival members of Congress. Bowman is trying to raise his profile by constantly opposing Kirkman's legislative agenda, especially his stance on gun control. Kearnan Giovanni as Diane Hunter, a Democratic senator from Massachusetts. She is also the Senate Minority Leader, who has a habit of sparring with Bowman. Terry Serpico as Patrick Lloyd, former Chief Executive of Browning Reed. Patrick is the founder and leader of the True Believers, the organization responsible for attacking the Capitol. Wells reveals Lloyd as the mastermind behind the attack, then leads to Kirkman ordering a drone strike on his bunker, killing him because of the threat of him carrying sarin gas that can kill thousands. Richard Waugh as Jay Whitaker, former Homeland Security Advisor. While working in the White House, Jay hacks into the computers and downloads a file containing a false confession to the bombing of the Capitol by Majid Nassar, also deleting files that could compromise his secret. [19] In December 2016, Jeff Melvoin was hired as showrunner, replacing the departing Feldman, and accompanied the second half of the season. [41] The series was renewed for a second season on May 11, 2017, which premiered on September 27, 2017. [42] [43] For the second season, writer Keith Eisner serves as the showrunner. [44] Kal Penn, who was associate director of the White House Office of Public Engagement and Intergovernmental Affairs from 2009 to 2011, works as a consultant for the series alongside his portrayal of Seth Wright. [45] On May 11, 2018, ABC canceled the series after two seasons due to high sales from showrunners and declining ratings. [46] [47] Shortly thereafter, eOne announced that they were in active talks with other networks to revive the show, including Netflix, which streams the series internationally. [48] On September 5, 2018, it was confirmed that Netflix had picked up the series for a third 10-episode season, which was released in 2019. Neal Baer will serve as the

